SODA SALÆRATUS. MAY be found at the Sugar Warehouse of Goodrich & Hunter, No. 42 Last water at.

The attention of the public is called to the article as being superior to Pearland Scharmus in its effect—gaing cooker, a more delicate appearance and favor; and also as more wholesome—Soch being more congraid to the human system than Potaba. It is more economical than Pearland Scharmus at his converte being required, to preclive the system than Potash. It is more economical than Potalists Saboratus—it is quantity being required to produce the same effect. The article is put up in pound papers with full directions for use.

Also may be found, John Dwight & Co. 3

Washing & Cleansing Powders, which will be found, on trial, a very superior article, saving much labor of washing Clothes, &c. It will soften hard water. To Engineers and Machiniert it is invaluable for removing grease from Machinery and other from works leaving the from perfectly dry, and not liable to rust.

Directions for use are printed on each package.

IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC! THE, following nivertisement was published in May, 1819, in the "Boston Dully Times," and various other newspapers in the United States, by James G. Wilson, Eq., the owner of the "Woodworth Paient," shortly after I and advertised my "PATENT STATIONARY CUTTEL PLANING, TONGULING, AND GROOVING MACHINE," throughout the United States: "PLANING MACHINES.

"I take this method of massoring the frequent inquiries, by letter and otherwise, as to my opinion upon the various notices through the papers, of the Stationary Knite Panding Machines attempted to be paimed off upon several persons fequenant of their true worth. I would state for the information of the enquirers that they will find substantially the machine now othered by several pretending inventors, do seribed in the lifet volume of the Repertery of Arts, invented by Samuel Benthan, in the year 1791. A like machine was parented in this country your except, some six even years since, and another one put up by Albert Richards, of West Troy, My, and shandoned about the same time. It ought to satisfy the public to knowthat after fifty eligit years experimently upon these machines, not one in eligon salue for the purposes contemplated.

I will turnish a Stationary Knite Macline equal to any now in use, or to any offered by the pretending meetors, at the cost of the machine and like per cent for my trouble, May 19, 1849.

at the cost of the machine and see per cent for my trouts.

JAMES G. WHISON,

May 19, 1819.

I deep that any person ever saw or heard of such a machine became as mine until I havented the same. Said machine was operated in the month of August, 1815, and no machine between this could do so much work, and do it as well as mine, in reply to the above absortisement, and in order that the public may be resured that I mean what I say, I will offer to pledge OSE THOUSAND DOLLARS against an equal amount from said Wilson, that ONE of my machines will plane, or plane, tongue and groove with less power, as much lamber in the same time, and do it as well, or better than TWO of the "Woodworth" machines. The trial to be mide at my Steam Mill, Border St., East Hoston, Mass, or at such other place as may be convenient for such a trial.

CHAPTER V .-- A MORNING ADVENTURE. Although the morning was raw, and although to fog seemed heavy—I say, seemed, for the indows were so encrusted with dirt, that they would have made Midsummer soushine dim-was sufficiently forewarred of the discomfort within doors at that early hour, and sufficiently curious about London, to think it a good idea on the part of Miss Jelly by when she proposed that within doors at that early hour, and sufficiently curious about London, to think it a good idea on the part of Miss Jellyby when she proposed that we should go out for a weak.

"Ma won't be down for ever so long," she said "and then it's a chance if breakfast's ready for an hour afterward, they dawdle so. As to I'ca, he gets what he can, and goes to the office. Hence has what you call a regular breakfast. Principle leaves him out the leaf and some milk, when there is any over night. Sometimes there isn't any milk, and sometimes the cut drinks it. But I'm afraid you must be tired, Miss Summerson; and perhaps you would rather go to bed."

"I am not at all tired, my dear," said I, "and would much prefer to go out."

"If you're sare you would," returned Miss Jellyby, "Pill get my things on."

Ach said she would go, too, and was soon astir. I made a proposal to Peepy, in default of doing anything better for him, that he should let me wash him, and afterwards lay him down on my bed again. To this he submitted with the best gace possible; staring at me during the whole operation, as if he had never been, and never could again be so astonished in his life—looking very miserable also, certainly, but making no complaint, and going sought is sleep as soon as it was over. At first I was in two minds about taking such a liberty, but I soon reflected that nobody in the house was likely to notice it.

What with the bustle of dispatching Peepy, and thebusile of getting myself ready, and helping Ada, I was soon quite in a giow. We found Miss Jellyby trying to warm herself at the (fire in the writing-room, which Pricilla was then lighting with a smutty candlestick—throwing the candle in to make it burn better.

Everything was just as we left it last night, and was cyidently intended to remain so. Below stairs the dimer-cloth had not been taken away, but had been left ready for breakfast. Crumbs, dust, and wase paper were all over the house.

Some pewter-pots and a milk-can hung on the area railings; the door stood open, and we m she pessed us, that she had just been to see what o'clock it was.

But before we met the cook, we met Richard, who was dancing up and down Thavies Inn to warm his feet. He was agreeably surprised to see us stirring so soon, and said he would gladly share our walk. So he took care of Ada, and Miss Jellyby and I went first. I may mention that Miss Jellyby had relapsed into her sulky manner, and that I really should not have thought she liked nor much, unless he had told me so. "Where would you wish to go?" she asked. "Any where, my dear," I replied.

"Any where's nowhere," said Miss Jellyby, stopping preversely.

stopping preversely.
"Let us go somwhere at any rate," said I.

She then walked me on very fast.

"I don't care!" she said. "Now, you are my witness, Miss Summerson, I say I don't care—but if he was to come to our house, with his great, shining lumpy forehead, night after night, till he was as old as Methuselah, I wouldn't have my thing to say the him. Such Asses as he and any thing to say to him. Such Asses as he and Ma make of themselves!"

Ma make of themselves."

"My dear." I remonstrated in allusion to the epithei, and the vigorous emphasis. Miss Jellyby set upon it. "Your duty as a child.—"

"O'! don't talk of duty as a child, Miss Summerson; where's Mrs duty as a parent? All made over to the public and Africa, I suppose!— Then let the public and Africa show duty as a child; "I'v nuch more their affair, then reine..." child : it's much more their affair than mine You are shocked, I dare say ! Very well, so am I shocked, too; so we are both shocked, and there's an end of it!"

an end of it?"

She walked meon faster yet.

But for all that, I say again, he may come, and come, and come, and I won't have any thing to say to him. I can't bear him. If there's any toffin the world that I hate and detest, it's the stuff that he and Ma talk. I wonder the very

I wonder the very paring stones opposite our house can have the patience to stay there, and he a witness of such moonsistencies and contradictions a sall that sounding nonsense, and Ma's management?"

I could not but understand her to refer to Mr. Quale, the young gentleman who had appeared after dinner yesterday. I was saved the disagreable necessity of purshing the subject, by Richard and Ada coming up at a round pace, laughing, and asking as if we meant to run a mee? Thus interrupted, hiss Jellyby became silent, and walked moodily on at my side; while I admired the long successions and varieties of streets, the quantity of people already going to and five, the number of vehicles passing and repassing, the busy preparations in the setting forth of shap windows and the sweep-nout rubbish for pins and other refuse.

"So, Cousin," said the cheerful voice of Richard to Ada, behind me. "We are never to get out of Chancery! We have come by another way to our place of meeting yesterday, and—by the Great Scal, here's the lady again!"

Truly, there she was, immediately in front of us, courtesying and smiling, and saying, with her yesterday's air of pationage:

"Who's this, Miss Summeron?, whispered Miss Jellyby, drawing my aim tighter through her own.

Miss Jellyby, drawing my arm tighter through her own.

The little old lady's hearing was remarkably quick. She arswered for berself directly.

"A state, my child. At your service. I have the honor to attend court regularly. With my documents. Have I the pleasure of addressing mother of the youthful parties in Janudyce?" said the old lady, recovering herself, with her head on one side, from a very low courtesy. Richard, anxious to atone for his thoughtlessness of yesterday, good-naturedly explained that Miss Jellyby was not connected with the suit.

"Ha!" said the old lady. "She does not expect a judgment? She will still grow old. But not so old. O dear, no! This is the garden of Lincoln's lun. I call it my garden. We said yes, as she seemed to expect us to say "When the leaves are falling from the trees, and there are no more flowers in bloom to make up into nosegays for the Lord Chancellor's court," said the eld lady, "the vacation is fulfilled; and the Stath Seal mentioned in the Revelations, again prevails. It was quite true, as it soon appeared. She lived so close by, that we had not time to have done humoring her for a few moments, before she was at home. His throat, chin, and eyebrows, were so frosted with white hiars, and sold on the new conductres, who had been trying to open the house door with a key she had taken from her gocket, and to whom Richard now said, that, as we had had the phasure of seeing whereshe lived we would leave her, being pressed for time. But she was not to be a casely left. She became so fauntiatedly and pressingly carnest in her enterties that we would walk up, and see her apartment for an instant; and was been, in her larmless way, on leading me in, as part of the good onen she desired that I, (watateve the filters might do) saw nothing for it but to comply. "He knows as much of the cause as the real stantied Chanceller!" said Richard, quite astonished, to Ada and me.

"Ay!" said the old man, coming slowly out of his abstraction. "Yes! MILITIA IN CALIFORNIA.-Count Haraszthy.formerly a resident of this State, now a member of Assembly in California, has introduced a law for the organization of the militia of that State. The San Finnei-co Hereld says of it : We do not see that it has a single advantage over the law already in existence; and as that is not enforced in the slightest, very little good can come of legislation about the matter. The only novel features we perceive in this new plan is to give the Governor seven aide-de-camp, each ranking as a colonel of cavalry, and each company is to be officered by one captain and one licutemant.

symptoms of abatement, and that whole districts n some parts of the island are left in a state lite tle better than a desert solitude.

New Gas Company .- A new company has been organized in New York, which proposes to furnish Gas, made from pine oil, at a greatly reduced rate. Recent experiments made by Prof. Renwick, seem to prove all that the company claims.

Stewart's sales in New York, during the year 1851, are said to have amounted to the enornous sum of twelve millions of dollars. The single article of gloves is put down at six hundred thous

EMIGRANT BOAT.—Messix, Miller & Whelply are building a boat, on the east branch of the Fon do Lac, to be used in conveying their families goods &c., to La Cross, by way of the Fox Wisconsin, and Mississippi Rivers, for which place they intend to leave about the first of May next. The boat is 70 feet long, and 11 feet beam, with a cubin finished 45 feet in length, and in a style that will accommend the their families as a tempotary home, and render their families as a tempotary home, and render then comfortable. This mode of emigration strikes our fancy as the most comfortable, and at the same time comonical, as the boat will be valuable at the end of the journey.—Fond dn Lac Journal.

DROWNED.-We regret to learn that WILLIAM MALKEE, Jr., a bright, promising lad of about 13 years, was drowned in the fiver near this place on Saturday afternoon last.—He was in a canoe, alone, hunting ducks, and is suppose to have been taken with a fit when he fell into the watter. His body was recovered on Sunday morning.—

SAD ACCIDENT.—On Monday last, while Reed C. Brazleton's children were at play three fingers of a little boy were accidentally cut off with an ax. The twe middle fingers were severed from the hand above the second joint, and the fore finger hung by a particle of skin, and it is hoped that it may be saved. This is indeed a sad accident, it being the right hand, and should serve to warn children against using edged tools.—Sheboygan Mercury.

Desiractive Confingration-Destruction of the National Theatre by fire. Boston, April 22d.

About 3 o'clock this morning a fire was discovered in the rear part of the National Theatre, on the corner of Portland and Travers street, and in three quarters of an hour after, the immense wooden structure was completely consumed with its contents, only a few dresses and properties being saved. The firemen by great exertions saved the adjoining property saved. The firemen by great exertions saved the adjoining property.

A carpenters shop on Friend-st., an old wooden buildings on Travers-st. opposite the Theatre were badly scorched, and same out buildings of houses fronting on Friend-st. were consumed. We could not learn how the fire originated.

The Theatre was a very large plastered wooden building and was owned by William Soliett Esq. who prachased it recently of Mrs. Pelby.

It was under lease to Messrs. Wright. Fenno & Co., and Mrs. Sinclair performed in the Theatre last eight to a crowded audience.

The proprietors of the Federal street Theatre have offered that building to the "National" Company and they will perform there to-night.

We would respectfully call the attention of our many friends, and the public generally, to an in-strument we have recently imported from Paris, from which the above cut was taken. By it we can take the exact shape, and unortingly fit the most irregular heads. Many can testify to the inconvenience, and annoyance, and actual pain they are subjected to, in breaking in Hats that will not fit them. By this ingenious contrivance, this very great annoyance is done away; as the Hats are made to fit perfectly the first time.

"Conformateur,"

Another great advantage is, by keeping a copy of the impression, we can at all times fit our customers from all parts of the country.

We invite all who desire a perfect fit in a Hat, to call and leave an impression of their head; and all those who take pleasure in witnessing the inventions of the ingenious, to call and see the operations of this curious instrument.

Having adopted the Cash System (which all will readily acknowledge to be the best,) we are enabled to sell the best Silk Hat made, at the extreme low price of $425; surpassing any $5 Hat sold in this city. Our Hats are all manufactured by ourselves, and in offering them to our customers, we do so, with the confident assurance, they are all we recommend them to be we invite all who do not wish to pay two profits upon a Hat, and are willing to save 25 per cent, to call and see us.

IMPORTANT TO CONTRACTORS. PLANK ROAD LETTING.

PROPOSALS will be received by the undersigned for the graduation, superstructure and bridging of the loss, sow and Huntaville Plank Road.

For the information of non-resident contractors, it is proper to state that this road is intended to connect the city of Glaggow, on the Missouri River, with the town of Huntsville, in Randolph Co, Mo, and is about twenty eight mites it leagth. The country over which it passes abounds with suitable timber, and is in other respects favorable to the cheap construction of plank road. There are, however, a few streams which will require bridges of considerable exitors.

The time for the completion of the road has not yet been fixed, and though it is desirable to complete the road as soon as possible, yet sufficient time will be allowed centractors. Contractors may rely upon promptness in payments, as the means of the company are ample.

Those who wish to examine the route with Engineer.
